The Budget 2012—The Full Picture

On Wednesday 21st March the Chancellor, George Osborne, will be standing up in Parliament to present the 2012 Budget.

As with all previous Budgets the actual speech will most likely concentrate on the state of the economy and make a few headline announcements about changes to our tax system.

The important changes and announcements which will affect you and your business are rarely made in the speech, it is in press releases issued afterwards that hold the real story of the Budget.

Our team will be ploughing through these announcements and analysing the effect of these changes for you and your business.

We will be delivering the full story, not just the headlines!
